17. Phoneme addition: Initial sounds aural activity

- Give learners the rhyme and ask them to add the given initial sound to form a word. Example: “say op, but add a /sh/ in front.” Learners reply “shop.”

18. Phoneme addition: Final sounds aural activity

- Learners are instructed to add the sound given by the educator to form a new word or plural. Example: “Say go but add a /t/ at the back.” Learners reply “goat.” As this is an aural activity, focus is on the sound of the new word and not the spelling thereof.

19. Phoneme substitution

- Show learners a picture card with a word and explain that substituting one sound in a word with another sound, forms a new word. Example: short can be changed to shirt by substituting the /o/ with /i/.
- Give learners words from the words already learnt and ask them to form new words by substituting a sound in the beginning, middle or end.

20. Manipulate phonemes

- Learners play with sounds learnt and build new words.
- Write a few letters on the board. Example: a, b, c, d, t. Learners can form words such as: cat, bat, at, bad, dab etc
- Learners draw pictures of the words they have formed and write short sentences.
- Learners can be taught letter names at this stage. Example: a is the sound but A “ay” is the letter name.
- Learners play the “crazy letters game.”

Songs to teach phonological awareness

- The educator sings the song and does all the actions.
- The song and relevant pictures are discussed. Ensure that all learners understand the vocabulary in the song. Pay special attention to pronunciation. Point out rhyming words and emphasise initial and final sounds when dealing with this skill.
- Sing the song with the actions again with the learners.
- Individuals or groups of learners take turns to sing the song with the relevant actions.

Stories to teach phonological awareness

- Show learners the pictures and allow discussions regarding what they think the short story is about.
- Read the short story to them. Ask questions afterwards and ensure all learners understand the short story.
- Re-read the story on several days. Emphasise rhyme, or the sound taught during that week.
- Once learners know the story well, give them the ‘Written By’ worksheet to draw a picture illustrating the short story. Allow them to write a short sentence.
- This activity provides an opportunity to teach the concept of print and how pictures correspond with words.

Poems to teach phonological awareness

- Explain to the learners that rhyming words sound the same and have the same ending.
- Read the poem to the learners, point to the pictures and say the rhyming words out loud. Discuss the poem and the pictures.
- Make sure that all the learners understand the poem and all the vocabulary.
- Learners learn the poem, point to the pictures and do the actions where applicable. Learners each get a turn to say the poem.

Assessment

- Use the Phonological Awareness Skills Test to assess the learners’ Phonological Awareness.

Blend and segment:

frog

frog
Phoneme deletion: initial sounds - aural

- Say chip without /ch/
- Say snail without /sn/
- Say star without /s/
- Say deck without /d/
- Say that without /th/
- Say bus without /b/
- Say when without /wh/
- Say book without /b/
- Say deep without /d/
- Say coat without /c/
- Say heat without /h/
- Say rake without /r/
- Say pine without /p/
- Say tube without /t/
- Say joy without /j/
- Say mouse without /m/
- Say drink without /dr/
- Say snail without /sn/
- Say way without /w/
- Say clock without /cl/
- Say nose without /n/
- Say king without /k/
Phoneme deletion: final sounds

This is an aural activity and the remaining sounds do not need to make sense.

- Do this with the words from the various word families. All aurally.
- Say chip without /p/
- Say that without /t/
- Say bus without /s/
- Say when without /n/
- Say book without /k/
- Say deep without /p/
- Say coat without /t/
- Say heat without /t/
- Say rake without /k/
- Say pine without /n/
- Say tube without /b/
- Say nose without /s/
- Say deck without /ck/
- Say drink without /k/

Phoneme addition: initial sounds

The educator uses words learners are familiar with. Give the learners the rhyme and ask them to add the initial sound to form a word. This is an aural activity.

Example: "say op, but add /sh/ in front". Learners should answer "shop".

- Say ip but add /ch/ in front.
- Say at but add /th/ in front.
- Say us but add /b/ in front.
- Say en but add /w/ in front.
- Say ook but add /b/ in front.
• Say eep but add /d/ in front.
• Say oat but add /c/ in front.
• Say eat but add /h/ in front.
• Say ake but add /r/ in front.
• Say ine but add /p/ in front.
• Say ube but add /t/ in front.
• Say ose but add /n/ in front.
• Say eck but add /d/ in front.
• Say rink but add /d/ in front.

Phoneme addition: final sounds

This is an aural activity, focus is on the sound of the new word, and not the spelling there of. Example; "say go, but add a /t/ at the back." Learners should answer "goat" and not got.

• Say stand, but add /ing/ at the back... standing
• Say book but add a /s/ at the back...books
• Say rake but add a /d/ at the back...raked
• Say chip but add a /s/ at the back.......chips
• Say camp but add /ing/ at the back.....camping

Phoneme substitution

Substitute one of the sounds to form a new word. Write your new word below the existing word. Example: dot - pot, bun - bin, pan - pat, wet - jet Poems with long vowels

a (silent e)

Skates
I made a trade with my friend Kate to get her purple roller skates
I laced them up to have a race,
but faster Kate came in first place.

Snake
Inside a little crate
I placed a little snake.
I use it in a game,
because it is a fake.

i (silent e)

Mice in a Line
A wise old cat climbed up a slide,
and five white mice lined up to ride.
The wise old cat had seemed so nice until he dined on five white mice.

o (silent e)

The Mole
The mole went down a little hole
and didn't make a sound.
She chose to be there all alone,
at home under the ground.

u (silent e)

My paper Flute
I used some tubes of cardboard,
and lots of super glue.
I made a special little flute and played a tune for you.

Story for sh- consonant blend

Circle all the words beginning with ‘sh’ in red. Circle all the words ending in ‘sh’ in blue.

There was a crash of thunder, a flash of lightning and down poured the rain! It poured down in a great rush on to the earth. In a short time, the road was like a rushing river and Tebogo’s shoes were soaking wet. Tebogo looked for shelter. He found an empty shop and it was open.

Just then he saw something shiver in the dark corner of the shop. He looked closely and there was a sheep in the shadows.

The door shut and Tebogo shouted. Then he fell asleep. The next day, his shoes were dry and he walked along a short road to visit Tash.

Story for ‘th’ consonant blend

Circle all the words starting in ‘th’ in red. Circle all the words ending in ‘th’ in blue.

In the middle of the forest, there stood a little house with a thatched roof. Close to the house stood a thorn tree. A sweet and thoughtful lady lived there. She was tall and thin and had thick, dark hair. People would walk down the path to bring her their clothes to mend, or cloth to make them clothes with her needle and thread. She could thread her needle as quickly as a thought.

Afterwards they would give her some fruit from the trees in their gardens, or bread they had baked in their kitchens, or a pillow stuffed with soft feathers. Then they thanked her for her beautiful sewing and walked back home along the path.
